

Membership/Donation Benefits

Conservation Plainfield relies on the support of memberships and donations to meet our mission. As a not-for-profit corporation, we receive no dedicated tax revenues. Through monetary support and/or volunteering for one of our events/projects, you will help Conservation Plainfield meet its mission and receive these additional benefits:

- E-mail updates highlighting the many special events and project volunteer opportunities available, as well as local, regional and national conservation issues.
- Special invitations to attend activities throughout the year, such as lectures, field trips and educational workshops. Timely topics on the environment, trends in conservation, and other topics of interest are presented by local, regional and national leaders. Members get advanced notification for these activities.
- Opportunity to network with others who have similar interests and concerns, and to participate on committees and volunteer projects to pursue issues of importance to you. You will also be able to help define and refine the organization by contributing to a cause that continues to grow and become more effective in meeting its mission.

Conservation Plainfield

Conservation Plainfield was founded in 2001 as a cooperative venture of various government agencies and residents in the Plainfield community. Representatives meet on a monthly basis to discuss conservation issues, determine ways to increase the public's environmental awareness, and to offer educational opportunities for school-enrolled students and the community at large. Conservation Plainfield is a not-for-profit corporation in the State of Illinois. Conservation Plainfield's mission is executed through various programs, events, classes and projects. These venues are determined and planned by the Board of Directors, and ratified by the General Membership annually.

The mission of Conservation Plainfield is to:

- Raise awareness of ecological issues in the Plainfield area
- Increase public appreciation of the environment
- Be proactive in planning for a sustainable future
